

CELEBRATION!

Crunch Time is over and you have made it to your Destination Imagination tournament. Congratulations! Although you may have been too busy working on your solution to your Challenge to notice, your Team Manager's hair has been on fire! Perhaps he (or she) got a little stressed in the last few weeks. Is it because you finished your challenge solution only hours before you had to perform it for the appraisers? Or is it because you would still rather be snacking and goofing off than actually making sure all your scoring elements are working? (Your Team Identification sign is really cute! Add more glitter!) Maybe you should do something really nice for your Team Manager right now so she (or he) doesn't quit and you can still be on a DI team!

Challenge: Think up lots of wonderful things to say to your Team Manager.
Be sure to include both funny and heart-warming ideas.

Time: Part One: You will have 3 minutes to brainstorm lots of hilarious and touching ideas to demonstrate your appreciation for all the things your Team Manager does for your team.

Part Two: You will have 1 minute to compliment your Team Manager.

Materials: a sheet of paper and a pencil (for planning your solution only )

Scoring: up to 25 points for the humor of your presentation up to 25 points for the sentiment of your presentation 25 points if your Team Manager blows a drink out of his (or her) nose or glitter out of her (or his) ears
25 points if your Team Manager signs a binding contract for next year
