

SURVIVING A SNOW DAY

Snow Day!!! You are so excited! But when you wake all the way up, you realize that you have nothing to do. Sledding is boring, even if there is enough snow. You definitely don't want to do your homework or clean your room. And your mom doesn't want to drive on the slippery roads so you can't go shopping or to your friend's house. What are you going to do?!

Challenge: Imagine something great to do on your day off. Create a skit that shows the appraisers how much fun you will have!

Time: Part One: You will have 5 minutes to develop your presentation about your creative (and imaginary) activities on a snow day when school has been canceled.

Part Two: You will have 2 minutes to perform your solution for the appraisers.

Materials: a piece of paper and a pencil (for planning your solution only)

Scoring:

- up to 30 points for the creativity of the snow day activity
- up to 25 points for the creativity of the skit
- up to 25 points for the integration of the activity and the performance
- up to 20 points for positive team work

Contributed by Karen Kumaki, Creative Kid. Thanks!